No.	Question	City's Response
1.	I reached out to our Insurance agent regarding the insurance requirements for RFP PTD24-007 Security Guard Services and have the following questions from our agent; Are they requiring any umbrella coverages? You do have a $5M umbrella it seems, so it could be with the $3M General Liability aggregate that you currently have, we might be able to get them to waive the $5M asking? With the umbrella you could have a theoretical aggregate limit of $8M ($3M General Liability Aggregate + $5M Umbrella Aggregate).	Umbrella coverage is not required, but Solicitation Section 8.2 provides that an excess liability policy or umbrella liability policy may be used to meet the liability limits for the Solicitation's insurance requirements. So umbrella coverage is not in addition to the City's coverage requirements, but rather makes up the difference for policies to satisfy the Solicitation's liability limits.
